

Neurodiversity tips for line managers in the workplace

Meetings

Change the environment where you hold meetings, can you go for a walk and talk?

Questions

Try new questions to understand your staff, “how would you like to be managed?”

Changes

Give plenty of notice for upcoming changes and provide the finer details in a way that allows others to prepare.

Objectives

Set objectives which consider neurodivergent strengths and challenges, avoid using the same objectives for everyone.

Listen

Ask the question “is there another way I can help you understand this?”

Support

Consider workplace needs assessments, training and coaching for within the workplace. Scan the QR code to learn more.

